“Baswant Honeybee Garden”

Introduction :

The Indian agriculture needs to be diversified so as to generate more income to farmers. Considering this aspect Pimpalgaon and Village Industries Board is promoting Honey production industry from years 2018 together in the country. Honey and Bees are known to the mankind since times immemorial. Honey is a nutritious fluid collected by Honey Bees which is good for human health. Honey is used by mankind since very ancient period as food , medicine etc. Honey bees also plays important role in increase in yield of crop through pollination. This industry plays important role to create employment opportunities among the rural mass. The Government is implementing various programs so as to promote this industry at large extent.

Location:

Located at “Baswant Honeybee Garden”, Pimpalgaon Baswant, Dist. Nashik.

Benefits of Honey :

- Rich in antioxidants.
- Better for blood sugar levels than regular sugar.
- May improve heart health.
- Promotes burn and wound healing.
- May help suppress coughing in children.

species of honeybees :

- Apis florae
- Apis dorsata
- Apis mellifera

Bee Colonies

In The Bee Colony Each and every bee colony is made up of three types of bee castes of the bee according to their work. These three are:

1. A queen bee usually, the only single fertile female of the colony.
2. Female workers bee; which are present in large number, generally around more than 30,000 in particular colony.
3. Male drones which are present in hundreds of number in the particular colony for the breeding purpose.

Bee Products in Honey Bee Farming

The main products of beekeeping business are Honey, Bees Wax, Bee Venom, Propolis, Royal Jelly & Pollen. The details of given below:

Honey : Honey is a sweet, viscous food substance produced by bees and some related insects. Bees produce honey from the sugary secretions of plants (floral nectar) or from secretions of other insects (such as honeydew), by regurgitation, enzymatic activity, and water evaporation. Bees store honey in wax structures called a honeycomb. The variety of honey produced by honey bees (the genus Apis) is the best-known, due to its worldwide commercial production and human consumption. Honey is collected from wild bee colonies, or from hives of domesticated bees, a practice known as beekeeping or apiculture. Honey gets its sweetness from the monosaccharides fructose & glucose, and has about the same relative sweetness as sucrose (granulated sugar). It has attractive chemical properties for baking and a distinctive flavor when used as a sweetener. Most of the microorganisms do not grow in honey, so canned honey does not spoil, even after several years. Honey provides 46 calories in a serving of one tablespoon (15 ml). Honey is regarded as safe when not taken in excessive amounts.

Different Type Of Honey:

The rock bee, Apis dorsata (Apidae).

- The Indian hive bee, Apis cerana indica (Apidae).
- The little bee, Apis florea (Apidae)
- The European or Italian bee, Apis mellifera (Apidae).
- Dammer bee or stingless bee, Melipona irridipennis (Meliporidae).

Flowers Honey :

Single flower honeys (also known as varietal, monofloral or unifloral honey) differ from multifloral or wildflower honeys by the predominance of nectar collected from a single type of plant.

Squeezed Raw- Honey:

Raw Honey means honey as it exists in the beehive or as obtained by extraction, settling, or straining; and that has not been heated above 118 degrees Fahrenheit during production or storage; or pasteurized.

Extracted Honey :

Honey is a sweet, viscous food substance produced by bees and some related insects. Bees produce honey from the sugary secretions of plants or from secretions of other insects, by regurgitation, enzymatic activity, and water evaporation. Bees store honey in wax structures called a honeycomb. This crude unprocessed honey.

Granulated Honey:

Granulated honey is honey that has been dried and ground. The honey retains the same flavor but has a crunchy quality to it. Furthermore, it dissolves well in liquid, but doesn't have the stickiness of fresh honey. Granulated honey is used for vinaigrettes, sauces, marinades, and brines.

Comb Honey:

A honeycomb is a mass of hexagonal prismatic wax cells built by honey bees in their nests to contain their larvae and stores of honey and pollen.

Beeswax:

Beeswax (cera alba) is a natural wax produced by honey bees of the genus Apis. The wax is formed into scales by eight wax-producing glands in the abdominal segments of worker bees, which discard it in or at the hive. The hive workers collect and use it to form cells for honey storage and larval and pupal protection within the beehive. Chemically, beeswax consists mainly of esters of fatty acids and various long-chain alcohols. Beeswax has been used since prehistory as the first plastic, as a lubricant and waterproofing agent, in lost wax casting of metals and glass, as a polish for wood and leather and for making candles, as an ingredient in cosmetics and as an artistic medium in encaustic painting.

Venom :

Venom is a secretion containing one or more toxins produced by bees. Bees synthesize and employ an acidic venom (apitoxin) to cause pain in those that they sting to defend their hives and food stores, whereas wasps use a chemically different alkaline venom designed to paralyze prey, so it can be stored alive in the food chambers of their young.

Propolis :

Propolis or bee glue is a resinous mixture that honey bees produce by mixing saliva and beeswax with exudates gathered from tree buds, sap flows, or other botanical sources. It is used as a sealant for unwanted open spaces in the hive. Propolis is used for small gaps (approximately 6 millimeters, while larger spaces are usually filled with beeswax. Its color varies depending on its botanical source, with dark brown as the most common. Propolis is sticky at and above 20 °C while at lower temperatures, it becomes hard and brittle.

Royal Jelly:

Royal jelly is a honey bee secretion that is used in the nutrition of larvae, as well as adult queens. It is secreted from the glands in the hypopharynx of nurse bees, and fed to all larvae in the colony, regardless of sex or caste. When a bee hive is making new queens, the workers construct special queen cells, and the larvae in these cells are fed with copious amounts of royal jelly. This type of feeding triggers the development of queen morphology, including the fully developed ovaries needed to lay eggs.

Pollen:

Pollen is a fine to coarse powdery substance comprising pollen grains which are male microgametophytes of seed plants, which produce male gametes (sperm cells). Pollen grains have a hard coat made of sporopollenin that protects the gametophytes during the process of their movement from the stamens to the pistil of flowering plants, or from the male cone to the female cone of coniferous plants. Pollen is commonly used as food and food supplement. However, because of agricultural practices, it is often contaminated by agricultural pesticides.
