About the Society :

In the decade of 1960 the country was awakening for mass education. Various social reformers in Maharashtra were forming private educational societies for mass education, especially in cities like Pune and Satara. In other parts of Maharashtra also some social and political leaders were emerging with social mission of providing education to the rural masses and specially to the downtrodden class.

In this mission, our visionary leader Late. K. B. Rohamare (then MLA) took the initiative to form an educational society for the upliftment of students from rural area, especially in higher education. He, along with Padmabhushan Late. K. J. Somaiya's financial support and Late. Mohaniraj Korhalkar's land donation, formed Kopargaon Taluka Education Society in 1964. Since its inception, the society is imparting quality education to the rural masses. Students from small and remote villages, wadis and vastis availing education and made their lives successful.

About the College :

Over the past 58 years, the college has witnessed a steady evolution. In 1964, it did not possess its building, but today, it proudly encompasses various facilities. The college has experienced not only a quantitative increase in student enrolment but also a qualitative improvement in the subjects taught and the faculty members.

The college's serene semi-urban location, and state-of-the-art infrastructure create an ideal environment for learning, sharing, and holistic student development. In recent years, the college has undergone significant transformations, introducing new academic programs to provide students with broader exposure and choices.
